

Executive Biography

David Lary

Head of Americas Supplies Sales
HP Inc.

David Lary serves as General Manager of Supplies Sales for the Americas Region, responsible for leading and managing all aspects of HP's supplies sales across the U.S. and providing supplies sales consultation into Canada and Latin America. Lary's focus is to lead and develop continued growth in HP's printing and supplies category.

During his 25-year tenure at HP, he has served in a variety of leadership positions in sales, manufacturing, supply chain, marketing, and business management, including separate international assignments in Dublin, Ireland and Geneva, Switzerland.

Most recently, Lary served as Vice President, Americas Partner Development and Programs. In this role he was responsible for all commercial channel programs in the Americas for Printing and Personal Systems, along with the Consumer Market Sales and Training team in the U.S.

David holds a bachelor of science degree in industrial engineering from Purdue University